REJUVENATING LIFE

Thanks to local donors, Meg had access to programs that brought new life back into her mother.

Her mom was 83 with mild dementia and had not been out of the house in a year. Meg found out about the congregate meals at the Randolph Senior Adults Center and signed her up for 3 days a week. The RCATS van could take her and bring her home.

Her mother is like a different person now. She loves the Center and her new friends there, and can hardly wait to tell Meg about her day when she gets home.

United Way depends on your donations to fund programs and services that help seniors remain healthy, active, and independent.

BUILDING LIFELONG FRIENDSHIPS

Thanks to United Way donors, two young boys brought children and neighborhoods together, and created new groups of friends. Landon and Jrue lived in different neighborhoods and didn't get to see each other outside of school, so they were excited to be on the same YMCA Midnight Basketball team for boys 5-7.

They began hanging out in each other's homes, going to birthday parties, and enjoying each other's friends. The two families began doing things together, and soon the parents became close friends, too. Now the families feel included in each other's neighborhoods, and share many new groups of friends together.

Your donations enhance United Way's focus on children by helping to fund programs that give them good role models and wholesome activities.

ACCESS TO HEALTHCARE

Thanks to United Way donors, she received the prenatal care she needed to protect her own and her unborn child's health.

She was in a tough situation, with an abusive partner and a surprise pregnancy. Finances were tight. She had legal fees for action against her partner, and an unplanned pregnancy created additional financial strain.

Being able to get prenatal screenings at Kintegra and have her diagnostic lab-work covered was a huge relief, and helped ensure a healthy pregnancy.

United Way uses your donations to fund programs that help everyone have access to basic needs and healthcare.

FINDING HIS HERO

Thanks to Communities in Schools, Thomas found the hero he needed in Tom Holtham.

His father had died, and his kindergarten teacher felt Thomas needed the influence of a mentor he could relate to.

CIS mentor Tom Holtham stepped in and became a special part of Thomas's life, visiting him once a week at school from the first grade all the way through his freshman year in high school. Mr. Tom still visits him weekly and has been a tremendous influence in Thomas's life.

Caring people like you make it possible for United Way to fund CIS and other programs that focus on nurturing children from cradle to career.
